

Hackberry is an education company that brings you unique programs that facilitate the overall development of 5 to 15 year-olds through fun and learning. Founded by Anisha Parikh and Ashni Dwarkadas, it was started while they were researching coding programs to enrol their children. After a couple successful pilots, Hackberry was launched 3 years ago, with a focus on developing curriculum that is entirely concept-based. In the last 3 years, Hackberry has worked with several schools in India, and trained over 10,000 students in their Coding, STEAM and Entrepreneurship programs.

<https://www.hackberrykids.com>